

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
WESTERN DISTRICT OF WASHINGTON
AT SEATTLE

SCOUT.COM, LLC and SCOUT
PUBLISHING, LLC,

Petitioners,

v.

BUCKNUTS, LLC, et al.,

Respondents.

CASE NO. C07-1444 RSM

ORDER GRANTING RESPONDENTS' MOTION TO DISMISS

I. INTRODUCTION

This matter comes before the Court on petitioners' Motion to Compel Individual Arbitrations and Stay AAA "Class" Proceedings and respondents' Motion to Dismiss. (Dkt. #10 and #15). Petitioners argue that this Court has the authority to make a class arbitration determination based on agreements entered into between the respective parties. Petitioners further argue that the agreements do not permit class arbitration and therefore request that the Court compel respondents to proceed with their arbitration claims individually. Respondents argue that only the arbitrator has the authority to determine whether the arbitration provisions of the agreements permit class arbitration. Thus, respondents argue that this petition should be dismissed.

For the reasons set forth below, the Court shall GRANT respondents' Motion to Dismiss and STRIKE AS MOOT petitioners' Motion to Compel Individual Arbitrations and

1 Stay AAA “Class” Proceedings.<sup>1</sup>

2 II. DISCUSSION

3 A. Background Facts and Procedural History

4 On May 11, 2007, respondents Bucknuts, LLC (“Bucknuts”), InsideTx, Inc.
5 (“InsideTx”), and Major Upset Productions, Inc. dba The Bootleg (“The Bootleg”), filed a
6 Consolidated Class Action Complaint with the American Arbitration Association (“AAA”)
7 against petitioners Scout.Com, LLC and Scout Publishing, LLC (collectively “Scout”). (Dkt.
8 #11, Buckley Decl., Exh. A). Respondents are self-described operators of independent 9 websites and publish independent magazines dedicated to high school, college and 10 professional athletics in various parts of the country. Id. at ¶¶ 1, 3-5. Bucknuts owns and 11 operates a website providing information about The Ohio State University’s athletic teams.
12 Id. at ¶ 3. InsideTx owns and operates a website providing information about the University 13 of Texas’ athletic teams. Id. at ¶ 4. The Bootleg owns and operates a website providing 14 information about Stanford University’s athletic teams. Id. at ¶ 5. Scout is a Washington
15 limited liability corporation that operates the Scout Internet Network and the Scout Magazine
16 Network. Id. at ¶¶ 7 and 8. The networks collectively provide information about high school, 17 college, and professional sports teams. Id.

18 The gravamen of respondents’ AAA complaint is that Scout has failed to properly
19 compensate respondents pursuant to agreements signed between the parties, and has deceived
20 respondents by engaging in unlawful business practices. Id. at ¶ 2. Respondents bring their 21 AAA complaint on “behalf of themselves and on behalf of (a) a class of approximately 300
22 persons, companies, or other entities that owned or provided content for a website [owned by 23 Scout] . . . ; and (b) a class of approximately 45 persons, companies, or other entities that 24 owned or provided content for a magazine [owned by Scout]. Id. at ¶ 14. On August 17,

---

25
26 <sup>1</sup> Although this Court rules only on respondents’ Motion to Dismiss, the Court agrees with 27 petitioner that petitioners’ Motion to Compel presents similar legal issues and analyses. As a result, the 28 Court considered the arguments made by both parties with respect to petitioners’ motion, and incorporates those arguments into this Order.

2007, respondents filed a “clause construction” motion with the AAA arbitrator, seeking a ruling that class arbitration is authorized. (Dkt. #11, Buckley Decl. ¶ 11). Scout requested the Arbitrator stay his decision and brought a petition in this Court on September 17, 2007. (Dkt. #1). In its petition, Scout seeks an Order from this Court to stay the AAA “class” proceeding and compel respondents to pursue their arbitration claims individually. Id.<sup>2</sup> Scout subsequently sought to enforce its petition by filing a motion to compel on September 27, 2007. (Dkt. #10). Scout argues in their moving papers that pursuant to agreements signed between the parties, respondents are not permitted to pursue class arbitration. Specifically, Scout indicates that it entered into Network Affiliate Agreements and Magazine Content, License, Publishing and Marketing Agreements (collectively “Agreements”) with respondents that contained specific carve-outs to arbitration. The arbitration provision, which is contained in each of the agreements between the parties, provides:

Any dispute or claim arising out of or in connection with this Agreement, except for the provisions of Section 8 or Section 13, will be finally settled by binding arbitration in Seattle, Washington [or Birmingham, Alabama] in accordance with the then-current Commercial Arbitration Rules of the American Arbitration Association by one arbitrator appointed in accordance with said rules.

(Dkt. #11, Buckley Decl., Ex. B ¶ 13.10; Ex. C ¶ 13.9; Ex. D ¶ 14.9; Ex. E ¶ 13.9; Ex. F ¶ 14.9; Ex. G ¶ 13.9; Dkt. #14 at 5) (emphasis added).

In some of the Agreements, Section 8 is titled “Representations and Warranties,” while in others, Section 8 is titled “Confidentiality.” (Dkt. #11, Buckley Decl., Ex. B ¶ 8; Ex. C; ¶ 8; Ex. D ¶ 8; Ex. E ¶ 8; Ex. F ¶ 8; Ex. G ¶ 8). In addition, Section 13 in some of the Agreements is titled “Miscellaneous,” while in others, Section 13 is titled “Ownership.” Id. at Ex. B ¶ 13; Ex. C; ¶ 13; Ex. D ¶ 13; Ex. E ¶ 13; Ex. F ¶ 13; Ex. G ¶ 13.<sup>3</sup> Based on these

---

<sup>2</sup> Scout amended its original petition on October 12, 2007, by adding an additional respondent, Trojan Sports Publishing, LLC (“Trojan Sports”). (Dkt. #14 at 2).

<sup>3</sup> It is noteworthy that neither party produced an agreement between Scout and newly added respondent, Trojan Sports. The only reference made to this agreement is contained in petitioner’s amended motion to compel. (Dkt. #14 at 5). This Court is unable to determine what is contained in Section 8 or Section 13 of that particular agreement.

1 provisions, Scout argues that the parties have expressly carved out from the scope of any
2 arbitration proceeding all disputes concerning the arbitration clauses themselves. Scout
3 further argues that it is undisputable that none of the arbitration clauses in the Agreements
4 provide for class arbitration. Thus, Scout argues that class arbitration is impermissible as a 5 matter of law.

6 After petitioners filed their motion, respondents filed their response and concurrently
7 filed a motion to dismiss. (Dkt. #15). In their motion, respondents argue that Scout's petition
8 should be dismissed as a matter of law pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(1) and Fed. R. Civ.
9 P. 12(b)(6) because: (1) Scout has waived its opportunity to challenge the jurisdiction of the 10 arbitrator; (2) the parties have incorporated the Commercial Arbitration Rules of the AAA by 11 reference, vesting the decision to decide arbitrability with an Arbitrator rather than this Court;
12 and (3) the requirements of § 4 of the Federal Arbitration Act have not been met as Publishers
13 neither refused arbitration nor "aggrieved" Scout in any way. (Dkt. #15 at 2). B.

14 Standard of Review

15 A motion to dismiss under Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(1) addresses the court's subject
16 matter jurisdiction. See Kokkonen v. Guardian Life Ins. Co., 511 U.S. 375, 377 (1994)
17 (finding that federal courts are courts of limited jurisdiction). They possess only that power
18 authorized by United States Constitution and statute, which is not to be expanded by judicial 19 decree. Id. The burden of establishing the subject matter jurisdiction rests upon the party
20 asserting jurisdiction. Id. When considering a motion to dismiss pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P.
21 12(b)(1), the Court is not restricted to the face of the pleadings, but may review any evidence, 22 such as affidavits and testimony, to resolve factual disputes concerning the existence of 23 jurisdiction. McCarthy v. United States, 850 F.2d 558, 560 (9th Cir. 1988).

24 Under Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(6), the Court must dismiss a complaint if a plaintiff can 25 prove no set of facts in support of her claim which would entitle her to relief. Van Buskirk v.
26 Cable News Network, Inc., 284 F.3d 977, 980 (9th Cir. 2002); Sprewell v. Golden State
27 Warriors, 266 F.3d 979, 988 (9th Cir. 2001); Love v. United States, 915 F.2d 1242, 1245 (9th 28 Cir. 1989). In deciding a motion to dismiss, courts accept as true all material allegations in

1 the complaint and construes them in the light most favorable to the plaintiff. See Newman v.
 2 Sathyavaglswaran, 287 F.3d 786, 788 (9th Cir. 2002); Associated Gen. Contractors v. Metro.
 3 Water Dist., 159 F.3d 1178, 1181 (9th Cir. 1998). However, conclusory allegations of law
 4 and unwarranted inferences are insufficient to defeat a motion to dismiss. Associated Gen.
 5 Contractors, 159 F.3d at 1181. A court is restricted to consider only the facts alleged in the 6 complaint when reviewing a 12(b)(6) motion to dismiss, but a court may consider extrinsic
 7 evidence by turning such motion into a summary judgment motion pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P.
 8 56. See Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(b).

9 As applied to arbitration, federal district courts are permitted to dismiss claims that are 10 subject to arbitration pursuant to either Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(1) or Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(6).
 11 See, e.g., Inlandboatmens Union of Pacific v. Dutra Group, 279 F.3d 1075, 1078-84 (9th
 12 Cir. 2002) (affirming district court's decision to dismiss pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(1) 13 where the parties entered into an agreement that subjected their dispute to arbitration); see 14 also Thinket Ink Info. Res., Inc., v. Sun Microsystems, Inc., 368 F.3d 1053, 1060 (9th Cir.
 15 2004) (holding that the district court did not err in dismissing plaintiffs' claims that were 16 subject to arbitration pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(6)).

17 B. Federal Law Governing Arbitrability

18 The Federal Arbitration Act ("FAA") governs any written provision in a "contract
 19 evidencing a transaction involving commerce to settle by arbitration a controversy thereafter
 20 arising out of such contract." 9 U.S.C. § 2. The FAA applies to all contracts that involve 21 interstate commerce. See Allied-Bruce Terminix Cos., Inc. v. Dobson, 513 U.S. 265, 281,
 22 115 S.Ct. 834 (1995). In this case, it is undisputed that the parties are from different states
 23 and entered into Agreements that were executed and perform across state lines. Therefore the 24 FAA and its corresponding case law applies.

25 Furthermore, "[t]he FAA provides for stays of proceedings in federal district courts
 26 when an issue in the proceeding is referable to arbitration, and for orders compelling 27 arbitration when one party has failed or refused to comply with an arbitration agreement."
 28 E.E.O.C. v. Waffle House, Inc., 534 U.S. 279, 289, 122 S.Ct. 754 (2002) (citing 9 U.S.C. §§

3 and 4). The Supreme Court has read these provisions to “manifest a ‘liberal federal policy favoring arbitration agreements.’” Id. (citations omitted). If there exists a doubt about whether an issue or dispute is arbitrable, the doubt should be resolved in favor of arbitration. See Mitsubishi Motors Corp. v. Soler Chrysler-Plymouth, Inc., 473 U.S. 614, 626, 105 S.Ct. 3346 (1985). In addition, where courts are faced with multiple ambiguous provisions, courts “should not, on the basis of ‘mere speculation’ that an arbitrator might interpret [the] ambiguous agreements in a manner that casts enforceability in doubt, take upon [themselves] the authority to decide the antecedent question of how the ambiguity is to be resolved.” PacifiCare Health Systems, Inc. v. Book, 538 U.S. 401, 406-07, 123 S.Ct. 1531 (2003) (citing Vimar Seguros y Reaseguros, S.A. v. M/V Sky Reefer, 515 U.S. 528, 541, 115 S.Ct. 2322 (1995)). The existence of multiple agreements between parties may lead to ambiguity and courts are required to resolve such ambiguities in favor of arbitration. See, e.g., Hartford Acc. and Indem. Co. v. Swiss Reinsurance America Corp., 246 F.3d 219, 227 (2d Cir. 2001) (finding ambiguity in multiple contracts between the same parties).

However, if the parties have clearly indicated that the dispute is outside the scope of arbitrability, a court is equally compelled to enforce such intent. The “preeminent concern of Congress in passing the [FAA] was to enforce private agreements into which parties had entered . . . [and to] rigorously enforce agreements to arbitrate.” Dean Witter Reynolds, Inc. v. Byrd, 470 U.S. 213, 221, 105 S.Ct. 1238 (1985); see also Volt Info. Sciences, Inc. v. Bd. of Trustees of Leland Stanford Jr. Univ., 489 U.S. 468, 479, 109 S.Ct. 1248 (1989) (finding that the primary purpose of the FAA is to ensure that “private agreements to arbitrate are enforced according to their terms”). Arbitration is a “matter of contract and a party cannot be required to submit to arbitration any dispute which he has not agreed so to submit.” United Steel Workers v. Warrior & Gulf Navigation Co., 363 U.S. 574, 582, 80 S.Ct. 1347 (1960); see also Teamsters Local 315 v. Union Oil Co. of California, 856 F.2d 1307, 1314 (9th Cir. 1988) (finding that evidence of a purpose to exclude a claim from arbitration rebuts the presumption of arbitrability); see also Building Materials and Constrs. Teamsters Local No. 216 v. Granite Rock Co., 851 F.2d 1190, 1195 (9th Cir. 1988) (holding that “[t]he parties . . .

1 decide whether and to what extent their disputes will be subject to binding arbitration”).
2 Therefore “any power that the arbitrator has to resolve the dispute must find its source in a
3 real agreement between the parties. [The arbitrator] has no independent source of jurisdiction
4 apart from the consent of the parties.” I.S. Joseph Co., Inc. v. Michigan Sugar Co., 803 F.2d
5 396, 399 (8th Cir. 1986).

6 In the instant case, Scout argues that the parties have expressly carved out from the 7 scope of any arbitration proceeding all disputes concerning the arbitration clauses themselves.
8 Scout points to the language of the arbitration provisions at-issue which, as mentioned above,
9 indicates that “[a]ny dispute or claim arising out of or in connection with this Agreement,
10 except for the provisions of Section 8 or Section 13, will be finally settled by binding
11 arbitration.” (Dkt. #11, Buckley Decl., Ex. B ¶ 13.10; Ex. C ¶ 13.9; Ex. D ¶ 14.9; Ex. E ¶
12 13.9; Ex. F ¶ 14.9; Ex. G ¶ 13.9; Dkt. #14 at 5) (emphasis added).<sup>4</sup> For four of the six 13 arbitration provisions at-issue, Section 8 is titled “Representations and Warranties” and 14 Section 13 is titled “Miscellaneous.” The “Miscellaneous” provisions include: Public 15 Announcements; Assignment; Controlling Law; Notice; Binding Effect [and] Authority; Entire 16 Agreement; Severability [and] Waiver; Relationship of Parties; Arbitration; Attorney’s Fees; 17 Counterparts; Advice of Legal Counsel; Defined Terms; and Non-disparagement and 18 Confidentiality. In the remaining two arbitration provisions at-issue, Section 8 is titled 19 “Confidentiality” and Section 13 is titled “Ownership.” Furthermore, in each of the afore-20 mentioned Sections, the Agreements are silent on the issue of whether class arbitration is 21 permitted. In fact, both parties acknowledge that the Agreements do not address the issue of 22 class-arbitration.<sup>5</sup>

---

24 <sup>4</sup> Notably, this Court finds no merit in respondents’ position that the AAA rules trump the 25 language of the at-issue arbitration provisions. The clause “except for the provisions of Section 8 or 26 Section 13” clearly modifies the language of the at-issue provision that provides that all disputes are to be settled in accordance with the AAA rules.

27 <sup>5</sup> Scout states “[t]here is no dispute that the arbitration clauses in the Agreements here are silent on 28 the topic of class arbitration[.]” (Dkt. #10 at 9). Respondents do not challenge this assertion in any of their pleadings.

1 As a result, Scout argues that if an arbitration provision is silent on the issue of class
2 arbitration, faithful adherence to the parties' agreement requires that class arbitration be 3 denied. On the other hand, respondents assert that this matter has been settled by the 4 Supreme Court in Green Tree Fin. Group v. Bazzle, 539 U.S. 444, 123 S.Ct. 2402 (2003).
5 Respondents characterize Green Tree as standing for the proposition that whether a silent
6 arbitration agreement permits class arbitration is a matter for the arbitrator to decide.
7 Therefore the dispositive issue before this Court is whether Green Tree applies to the facts of 8 this case.

9 C. Green Tree and its Progeny

10 In Green Tree, the Supreme Court was faced with an arbitration provision that was 11 silent on the issue of whether class arbitration was permitted. The contract which the parties
12 entered into provided:

13 ARBITRATION - All disputes, claims, or controversies arising from or relating to this 14 contract or the relationships which result from this contract . . . shall be resolved by binding arbitration by one arbitrator selected by us with consent of you.

15 Green Tree, 539 U.S. at 448 (emphasis in original).

16 Based on these terms, the Court found that "the dispute about what the arbitration 17 contract in each case means (i.e., whether it forbids the use of class arbitration procedures) is 18 a dispute 'relating to this contract' and the resulting 'relationships.'" Id. at 451. The Court
19 determined that the relevant question was "what kind of arbitration proceeding the parties
20 agreed to," id. at 452 (emphasis in original), and held that "the parties seemed to have agreed 21 that an arbitrator . . . would answer the relevant question." Id. at 451-52. In its analysis, the 22 Court also reasoned that this question was outside the scope of "gateway matters, such as 23 whether the parties have a valid arbitration agreement at all or whether a concededly binding
24 arbitration clause applies to a certain type of controversy," that parties generally expect a 25 court to decide. Id. at 452 (citing Howsam v. Dean Witter Reynolds, Inc., 537 U.S. 79, 83, 26 123 S.Ct. 588 (2002)). The Court concluded that "[g]iven these considerations, along with 27 the arbitration contracts' sweeping language concerning the scope of the questions committed 28 to arbitration, this matter of contract interpretation should be for the arbitrator, not the courts,

1 to decide.” Id. at 453.

2 Post-Green Tree, at least two Ninth Circuit cases have implicitly recognized that if an
3 arbitration agreement is silent on the issue of class arbitration, then the issue should be settled
4 by an arbitrator. See, e.g., Shroyer v. New Cingular Wireless Services, Inc., 498 F.3d 976,
5 992 (9th Cir. 2007) (recognizing that Green Tree “concluded that an arbitrator . . . should
6 have determined whether an arbitration agreement that was silent on the issue of class
7 arbitration did in fact authorize class proceedings”); see also Sanford v. Memberworks, Inc.,
8 483 F.3d 956, 964 (9th Cir. 2007) (recognizing that Green Tree “held that whether a contract
9 permits class arbitration is an issue for the arbitrator to decide”). Additionally, other federal 10 courts have consistently followed Green Tree’s mandate. See Johnson v. Long John Silver’s
11 Rests., Inc., 320 F. Supp. 2d 656, 668 (M.D. Tenn. 2004) (finding that Green Tree
12 “specifically states that the arbitrator, not the court, should determine whether class arbitration 13 is permitted by an ambiguous contract”); In re Universal Serv. Fund Tel. Billing Practices
14 Litigation, 300 F. Supp. 2d 1107, 1126-27 (D.Kan. 2003) (holding that the contract at-issue 15 “does not by its terms ban class-wide arbitration. Rather, it is silent on this issue. Under 16 theses circumstances, the availability of class-wide arbitration is an issue that must be decided 17 by an arbitrator in the first instance.”); Blimpie Int’l Inc. v. Blimpie of the Keys, 371 F. Supp.
18 2d 469, 474 (S.D.N.Y. 2005) (“[W]hether a particular procedural device is permissible in the 19 absence of any language in the agreement is a question of ‘contract interpretation and 20 arbitration procedures,’ which ‘arbitrators are well situated to answer’”) (citation omitted).

21 The Court finds that a case out of the Fifth Circuit is significantly relevant here. In 22 Pedcor Mgmt. Co. Welfare Benefit Plan v. Nations Pers. of Texas, Inc., the court explained
23 that Green Tree “made the initial determination that the language of the arbitration agreement 24 did not clearly forbid class arbitration.” 343 F.3d 355, 359 (5th Cir. 2003) (emphasis in 25 original). Therefore the court held that Green Tree was sufficiently analogous to its case 26 because “Green Tree applies, at a minimum, to arbitration agreements under the FAA, and 27 because the arbitration provision in this case also incorporates the FAA, the Court’s holding is 28 applicable here.” Id. at 361.

1 In the instant case, Scout attempts to distinguish Green Tree by arguing that there are 2 carve-outs in its Agreements with respondents. Scout reasons that Green Tree applies only to 3 broad sweeping arbitration provisions that do not contain exceptions. However, the Court
4 finds the Agreements in this case are sufficiently analogous to fit within the holding of Green
5 Tree for three reasons.

6 First, the Agreements at-issue do not expressly forbid class arbitration proceedings.
7 The Supreme Court in Green Tree made a determination that the language of the arbitration
8 agreement did not clearly forbid class arbitration in reaching its conclusion that the issue was 9 left for the arbitrator. Likewise, in the instant case, both parties and this Court agree that the 10 Agreements are silent on the issue of class arbitration. The arbitration provisions found in 11 Sections 13.9, 13.10 and 14.9 in the various Agreements between Scout and respondents do
12 not address class arbitration. In addition, the referenced carve-outs found within these 13 provisions also do not address class arbitration. Therefore this silence cuts in favor of the 14 applicability of Green Tree to this case.

15 Second, Green Tree applies to agreements that are governed by the FAA, and the 16 Agreements at-issue are governed by the FAA. As Scout correctly points out, the FAA and 17 its rules govern this dispute. Green Tree was intended to apply to arbitration provisions that 18 were also governed by the FAA. Thus, this fact also cuts in favor of the applicability of Green
19 Tree.

20 Lastly, and most compelling to this Court, the Agreements are sufficiently ambiguous
21 to justify dismissal of this action. Although Scout asserts that the Agreements expressly carve
22 out from the scope of any arbitration proceeding all disputes concerning the arbitration clauses
23 themselves, the Court cannot conclude with certainty that this is the case. As mentioned 24 above, for four of the six agreements, what is carved-out from arbitration are disputes around 25 “Representations and Warranties” and “Miscellaneous” provisions in Section 13. For the 26 remaining two agreements, disputes around “Confidentiality” and “Ownership” are excluded
27 from arbitration. Nowhere in any of these provisions that have been carved out is there any 28 clear mention or mandate that suggests disputes concerning the arbitration clauses themselves

1 - such as whether respondents are permitted to proceed as a class or not in arbitration - should 2 be excluded from consideration by the arbitrator.

3 Additionally, the presence of such multiple inconsistent arbitration provisions creates
4 an ambiguity as well. Had Scout clearly intended to exclude from arbitration all disputes
5 concerning the arbitration provisions themselves, it would not have placed such prominent 6 language in significantly different places within its Agreements with respondents. The 7 existence of the carve-out provision in Section 14, rather than Section 13, of the Network
8 Affiliate Agreements with InsideTx and The Bootleg presents conflicting intentions, thereby
9 rendering the Agreements ambiguous. Also, no agreement between Scout and newly added
10 respondent Trojan Sports has been produced, and therefore the Court is unable to determine 11 the scope of the arbitration carve-out in that Agreement. This Court therefore will follow the 12 well-established mandate of the Supreme Court that courts should not “take upon 13 [themselves] the authority to decide the antecedent question of how the ambiguity is to be 14 resolved.” PacifiCare, 538 U.S. at 406-07 (citing Vimar, 515 U.S. at 541).

15 Given the applicability of Green Tree to the instant case, coupled with the ambiguity
16 inherent in the Agreements between the parties, this Court concludes that it cannot compel
17 respondents to proceed with their arbitration claims individually. The Court further finds it 18 unnecessary to address the remaining arguments presented by the parties in their respective 19 motions. Accordingly, Scout’s petition is dismissed pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(1).

20 III. CONCLUSION

21 Having reviewed, and the remainder of the record, the Court hereby finds and 22 ORDERS:

23 (1) Respondents’ Motion to Dismiss (Dkt. #15) is GRANTED. The Court finds that 24 whether respondents are permitted to proceed as a class in the underlying arbitration
25 proceeding is a matter to be resolved by the arbitrator.

26 (2) Petitioners’ Motion to Compel Individual Arbitrations and Stay AAA “Class”
27 Proceedings (Dkt. #10) is STRICKEN AS MOOT.

1 (3) Respondents' Motion For Leave To File Excess Pages (Dkt. #35) is STRICKEN
2 AS MOOT.

3 (4) The case is now CLOSED.

4 (5) The Clerk is directed to forward a copy of this Order to all counsel of record.

5
6 DATED this 16th day of November, 2007.

7

8 RICARDO S. MARTINEZ
9 UNITED STATES DISTRICT JUDGE
10
11
12
13
14
15
16
17
18
19
20
21
22
23
24
25
26
27
28